Why?

- The traditional way to trade domestic stock in Iceland is a lengthy process.
- It can take up to ten days to create an account and until you have a domestic stock in your portfolio.

- There has been little trust in the Icelandic stock market after the financial crisis of 2008.
- But the interest has grown exponentially after interest rates in Iceland moved closer to 0%

- The Icelandic market is inaccessible for smaller foreign investors.
- Small markets all over the world face the same problem.
